About Us

Since its inception in 2002 The Production Works has established a dynamic approach to storytelling. A unique blend of passion, creativity and expertise ensures that each aspect of our productions ultimately translates into a story that is complimented by beautiful images and powerful messages. It's this incendiary combination that has seen us working on a wide range of high impact commercials, reality or fictionalised television projects, corporate and brand orientated productions, music videos & documentaries, locally & internationally. As of this writing, the Production Works has produced over 2500 television programs, corporate videos and commercials.

Establishing a strong relationship with our clients and transforming their challenges into inspiring videos is at the very core of our mission. Our belief in creating and producing quality content has ensured long associations and regular repeat business from both our local & international clients.

Our key focus is to ensure that we combine our passion for storytelling with the latest technology on the market, as this ensures that all our productions keep up with the international broadcasting standards.

The Production Works team consists of directors, producers, writers, animators, editors and artists who draw on their diverse experiences in film, music, creative advertising, journalism, social media and reality TV to create projects that connect with audiences intellectually and emotionally.

Our extensive in-house facilities allow us to provide the best service and to make the impossible - possible!

Brink De Villiers

Brink de Villiers has been involved in the industry since 1994. After obtaining a diploma in Independent Film. He started working on local & international feature films and international TV dramas. In 2000, he realized his dream to start his own production company and opened The Production Works, TPW. As producer, he has directed and produced numerous local and international productions.

Brink is an accomplished pilot, aerial cinematographer and aerial photographer. He has a passion for the industry, and gets involved in all the productions that he has produced. A great passion of his is to tell local stories and to shoot and direct his own productions. His television work includes productions across most genres from sport to politics, children's animation to drama.

As a director & producer, Brink has done extensive corporate and commercial work and spans close to 2000 productions for blue chip brands TV-series and documentaries. Under his leadership, The Production Works has developed an award winning 3D Animation & Graphics unit that delivers work on a weekly basis for major corporations around South Africa.

Social investment is also a key area where Brink provides ample opportunities for young particular black filmmakers by mentoring them and facilitates access to all our production studios and post-production facilities.
